

Observation: I am weird.

I can't put my finger on exactly how, but my cognition differs from that of my peers. I know this to be the case, I just don't know how my thinking differs exactly.

I was told to wash out a garbage can once. So, I took the bag out, put it with the rest of the trash bags, and sprayed out the inside with a sort of hose and nozzle we keep in the kitchen for cleaning dishes. I did not let this dry before putting another bag in.

I accidentally called one of my co-workers "retarded" when trying to relate to him. Specifically, I said "Bryce, you seem like the kinda guy who was called retarded in class at least once." It really had not entered my head that I was essentially calling him retarded. See, I have been called retarded for displaying similar behaviors to Bryce, particularly his style of humor where he tries to fuck with someone in a particularly obvious way before doing a very annoying fake laugh. I love this style of humor, personally- at least in the context of Bryce doing it to someone who doesn't mind, like me.

I accidentally burned a very good friend of mine by causing them to roleplay with elements they... found extremely objectionable, and for very good reason.

I understand that, to some degree, I am different. And, I will always be that way.

That said, I don't always want to be harmful. I believe I can be fun to hang out with, I just think my default configuration is a far way away from that.

I... cannot change alone. I need help. I do not know how to fix myself, or even what particularly is broken. Things can be changed though.

I do not have to harm those who I consider allies. I don't want to! I just... do.

Anyways, all this to say... "if you see something, SAY something." Or, more specifically, if you notice me doing anything particularly shithheaded or stubborn, lemme know please. I don't like being resistant to ideas, or hurting my friends.

There was once a time when I told you "please don't tell me if I'm being a massive idiot, I'll figure it out on my own." I am telling you now, I cannot figure it out on my own. I have tried. And, please! Be mean if necessary! You are not the asshole for setting proper boundaries with me!!