

Hello!

I understand this is somewhat odd. I do try and keep things to Discord for the most part, if possible, but it felt more appropriate that this be it's own thing.

I don't think you need me to tell you any of this, but last week you said a thing or two that got me thinking. And, frankly, even if you do know what I'm about to say, I think it would be nice to hear it from me.

Firstly, I want to apologize. Not only for approaching you with those ideas to begin with, but for putting you through it for so long before I even began to realize that you didn't enjoy it. I still think there was a period of a few weeks where I should've wized up. That is, I don't think you should've had to tell me. You dropped enough hints to let me know you weren't enjoying it nearly as much, if at all.

You called what we did a "huge mistake." I don't disagree. I do, however, want to make it clear that it was, like, 70% my mistake. I came forward with the idea, I repeatedly sent refs that were- mm, challenging to put it nicely, and I was the one who wanted us to keep doing that stuff.

It is over now. I apologize for putting you through it for so long.

Thank you for waking me up last week. Thank you for continuing to talk to me. I do not deserve it.

I will no longer bring this up, as I do believe its a sore subject for the both of us. Again, thank you, and sorry.